BANKING AT CNB HAS ITS PERKS

With a CNB +Perks checking account, you have access to thousands of discounts at your fingertips when you download the CNB +Perks app.

TESTIMONIAL

I used the CNB +Perks app to see what kind of deals I could find. I booked our stay at the Paris Las Vegas Hotel and saved $85 per night. Then, I booked a tour of the Grand Canyon and saved $158 per ticket. We purchased tickets to Hoover Dam Skywalk Adventure and saved $115 per ticket. That is a savings total of $801! Thank you, CNB!

-Julie T.

Tennessee's community colleges and TCATs mobilize statewide support for Hurricane Helene victims in Northeast Tennessee

Walters State students, faculty, and students have been busy serving food to those in need from the Walters State Food Truck used in their culinary program.

In the wake of Hurricane Helene, Tennessee's community colleges and TCATs have united in a statewide effort to provide essential aid to Northeast Tennessee residents affected by the storm's devastating aftermath. Through a coordinated initiative led by the TBR – The College System of Tennessee, over 14,000 cases of bottled water have been collected and distributed to assist those in need in Northeast Tennessee.

The statewide mobilization saw numerous colleges acting as central hubs for water donations, including TCAT Morristown, TCAT Elizabethton, Walters State Community College, and Northeast State Community College. These colleges, alongside their students, faculty, and staff, have played a critical role in delivering aid to those impacted by the hurricane, with many using semi-trucks from their Commercial Driver's License (CDL) truck driving programs to transport and deliver the donations from across the state.

Walters State served as both a collection point and distribution center while also utilizing its culinary program's food truck to serve meals to storm victims and volunteers in Greene and Cocke counties. Faculty, staff, and students unaffected by the storm have actively participated in these relief efforts, embodying the spirit of community support.

Those wishing to support these ongoing efforts can visit the Flood Relief Fund Link and donate today. Every act of generosity plays a vital role in the recovery of our communities.

The following colleges in Northeast Tennessee have set up flood and hurricane relief funds where you can donate to assist their students, faculty, and staff affected by the aftermath of the hurricane:
